

THE CHAPEL.

The Chapel! Built under the house, supported by thick round beams, the central point is our Altar with its hangings showing forth the seasons which Mother Church bids us keep.

Go in quietly in the early morning or during the evening, and here and there you will see quiet figures kneeling. Go in and the Chapel will welcome you—you will feel its atmosphere of peace and prayer.

There is the centre of our school-life from which we draw our stores of strength for the day's work, and in the evening give back our day to God with all its joys and sorrows. Each morning we have come together as one large family to begin our day with corporate prayer. Twice a week the Holy Communion has been celebrated here.

During Lent the Chaplain gave us a special service every Thursday afternoon, and the Watch of the Passion was shared by all who remained at School for the Easter week-end.

Unfortunately, this year the Parish Confirmation was held in the Mid-Winter holidays, so the School was unable to present any candidates. We are looking forward to a number of our girls being confirmed early next year.

Through the year the Chapel has been a vital part of our School-life; all have added to the treasure of their vision of God. Old Girls writing to the School since their departure have said how they value the memory of their School Chapel, their share in its worship, and the inspiration it has been to them since. May we also each one of us take our part in the larger life of the Church when the time comes to sing our final hymn of farewell, and go forth to bear our witness in the world.

HOUSE COLOURS AND MOTTOES.

KIPLING HOUSE (Blue): "En Avant."

KINGSLEY HOUSE (Orange): "Non sibi, sed patriae."

KEATS HOUSE (Purple): "One for all, and all for one."

HOUSE OFFICERS.

KINGSLEY HOUSE: Mistresses, Miss Gataker, Miss Will; Captain, Florence Bellamy; Sports Captain, Nyra Priest; Mission Secretary, Alice Batt.

KEATS HOUSE: Mistress, Novice Kathleen; Captain, Marjorie